VOL. 37. BLOOMSBURG, PA. THURSDAY, JULY, 24 1902. NO. 30

ISRAEL MAIER TURNS UP VERY UNEXPECTEDLY.

Israel Maier, who a few years ago made himself notorious, by claiming to be President McKinley's adviser, and who was later tried and convicted in the United States Court at Williamsport on a charge of sending objectionable matter through the mails, and who by reason of an apparent mental abberation was sent to St. Stephen's hospital for the insane at Washington, D. C. escaped from that institution on Friday, and arrived in Danville, to the consternation of his friends, early Saturday morning. On Sunday, James E. Town, an official at the hospital, arrived in Danville after Maier. He secured him and returned to Washington on the afternoon train. In describing Maier's cleverly planned escape, he said:

The hospital is surrounded by a brick wall 14 feet high, surmounted with barbed wire. Along the fence on the inside is a row of benches. Israel was frequently alone in the yard and it was not long before he began to exercise his ingenuity. He saw that by placing one bench on another he could easily gain the top of the fence. To protect himself from the barbed wire the use of newspapers suggested themselves.

The first opportunity came during the breakfast hour. Israel was soon on the summit of the fence. He had provided himself with newspapers which he wrapped around the barbed wires and thus managed to force himself through between them without injury. He reached the ground unharmed and made his way to the railroad where he jumped a freight for Baltimore. In that city he managed to borrow enough money to pay for a ticket to Danville."

While yet a resident of Bloomsburg, Maier displayed nervous eccentricities. He at one time imagined that he had entirely mastered the great financial problem, and had been employed by the Government to put his scheme into operation. Again he decided to tour the country as a lecturer. His chosen subject was the "Pen is Mightier than the Sword." He purchased from a large lithographed establishment, a thousand or more three sheet posters of himself and started out.

He arranged for his first appearance at Philadelphia, by hiring the Academy of Music. The lecture was thoroughly advertised in all the leading city dailies, but when the evening of the lecture arrived, there was scarcely any one out to hear him. Shortly after this he was taken to the Hospital.

Fourth of July Accident Terminates Fatally.

Stanley R. Solleder, the fourteen year old son of Mrs. Clara Solleder, died from the effects of a Fourth of July accident at his home in Berwick Thursday afternoon of last week. When the casualty occurred which evidently caused his death, he with some young boys, was celebrating the Fourth of July. This wound was self inflicted. He was loading a revolver and in his haste to get the weapon ready to fire, accidently shot himself in the hand. He was at once placed in the care of a physician. His condition was not alarming and his recovery was considered to be only a question of time. On Tuesday of last week, or two days before his death, symptoms of heart disease appeared, and two days later he passed away.

Funeral services were conducted at the house Sunday morning at nine o'clock, and the remains brought to Bloomsburg, arriving here about half past twelve, and interred in the family plot in Rosemont Cemetery. The mother and one daughter Miss Annie survive. The family resided in Bloomsburg until about one year ago when they moved to Berwick. The husband and father Sylvester Solleder, died in this town three years ago.

Spent the Day at Billmeyer's Park.

Twenty-three of our townspeople enjoyed a day's outing at Billmeyer's Park last Friday. They were conveyed over and back in two large hacks. The following composed the party: Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Cherrington, Mrs. Lawson Hughes, Mrs. Cadow and daughter, Misses Bessie and Olive Moyer, Miss Lydia Maust, Mrs. Alice John, Mrs. Dr. T. C. Harter, Mrs. Lizzie Ent, Mrs. Eva Hoffman and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Woodring, Mrs. Rev. J. D. Thomas, Charles Drake, Mrs. Theo. Smith, Mrs. J. J. Wagonseller, Miss Laura Herring and Miss Josephine Bidleman. They returned home in the evening delighted with the trip.

Lamentably Weak.

It was an unmerciful trouncing that the Staffords of Wilkes Barre, administered to the rejuvenated Carpet Mill ball team Saturday afternoon. The result of the game ought to convince the manager of the locals that he can never win as long as he continues to shift his players about from one position to another. The team was weaker Saturday than at any time during the season, and this was due wholly to the fact that players who in previous games have demonstrated their worth, were kept out of the game and their places filled with misfits and incompetents.

The visitors went at Savits with a vengeance, and slam banged his delivery to all corners of the lot. It was an off day for him. He had poor control and very little speed, and then he worked entirely too fast. A pitcher, to be successful in the box, should take plenty of time. That is, he should size up and study the batter, keep an eye on the bases, and see that the men behind him are ready before he delivers the ball.

There was nothing to complain of in the way of attendance, the crowd was the largest of the season. All three sides of the park were lined with people, the number we believe would reach one thousand.

Below will be found the score in full.

LOVE WILL FIND A WAY.

Catawissa is deeply agitated over the elopement of one of its fairest maidens, Miss Lena Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Kelly, and a traveling book agent, by the name of Joseph Heritage.

Heritage arrived in town several weeks ago and was quartered at the St. Elmo Hotel. His habits and decorum so far as the proprietor of the hostelry was able to observe were correct. He displayed a peculiar liking for the society of girls, and was never backward in taking advantage of every opportunity that presented itself to be in their company.

He did not appear to confine his attention to any particular one until about four weeks ago when Miss Kelly arrived at the hotel as a guest. At once his susceptibility manifested itself and he fell desperately in love. From that time on he called frequently upon the young lady. Her parents did not demur and he was allowed the freedom of her home.

Heritage's employer, Mr. Smith, who is also at the St. Elmo, was aware of the intimacy between the two, but did not know that the young man was serious. For the past two weeks, however, when Heritage was flitting at short intervals between Catawissa and Bloomsburg, he thought that something beside soliciting orders was causing perturbation in the mind of the erstwhile southern Adonis. This belief was strengthened a few days ago when the young lady's trunk arrived at the hotel. The same afternoon she put in an appearance, and it leaked out that the two, having failed to secure the parents' consent to marry, had decided to elope. Their plans were frustrated however, when Mr. and Mrs. Kelly came to Bloomsburg. They entreated the young lady to return home with them, but she refused. Finding that all opposition was useless they agreed to allow the ceremony to take place. Heritage and Mr. Kelly called on Father Murphy, of whose church Miss Kelly is a member, and expressed a wish that he marry them. He was informed that a special dispensation was necessary and that it would take a week's time to get it. This appeared to be satisfactory and the four people took the car for Catawissa. Shortly after their arrival there, the young man thinking, (this is only supposition, however,) that arrest would follow, induced the girl to accompany him back to Bloomsburg on foot. Again the parents hastened to Bloomsburg but this time they were outwitted. Heritage and the girl secreted themselves until late in the afternoon, when Heritage got a friend to drive them to Nescopeck, where they took the train for parts unknown.

Miss Kelly was a music teacher and had many students in town. She is an extravagantly pretty girl and by reason of her acomplishments was quite a potent social factor in Catawissa.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelley are deeply grieved over the occurrence. Heritage comes from Givons, Tennessee.

The Historical Museum.

The work of renovating the old Presbyterian church was completed by P. K. Vannatta on Wednesday. The audience room has been kalsomined and papered in rich green tints with white trimmings, and the effect is very pretty. The decorations are under the charge of Mrs. Robert Hawley Jr. The exterior will be beautified by plants and trees, and the old place will look quite different from what it has for some years past.

Many contributions have been made to the Historical Museum collection, and this feature of the Centennial will be one of the leading attractions. The ladies of the Civic Club are devoting much time in preparation, and it will be a most interesting place to visit. It is expected that the museum will be ready to open some days before the Centennial. Contributions are still solicited, and any one having articles of any kind with a history, are requested to loan them. Mrs. H. H. Grotz has charge of the loan department.

Joseph Pursell, who has been in the employ of United States Express agent E. P. Williams, as delivery clerk, for the past few years, has been appointed agent for the Adams Express Company.

WILL TURN OUTRIGHT

Archbishop Ireland Satisfied With Negotiations.

GOVERNMENT'S ATTITUDE PRAISED.

Sharp Rebuke For Those of the Church Who Have Questioned the Fairness of the Administration In This Matter.

ST. PAUL, July 23.—Archbishop Ireland in an interview regarding the progress of the negotiations conducted between Judge Taft and the Vatican took to task certain Catholic organizations that had assumed to question the fairness of the administration toward their coreligionists. The archbishop said:

"Yes, the news from Rome is quite satisfactory and, I am sure, quite correct. Private advices coming to me from the most reliable sources confirm in all respects the dispatches given in the press. The sovereign pontiff and other Roman authorities are delighted with Governor Taft personally and with the negotiations in course of progress between him and the Vatican. Reports sent out by the correspondents of certain London papers to the effect that the pontiff was displeased with the manner of acting of the commission of cardinals appointed to treat with Governor Taft were absolutely unfounded. As stated in this morning's Roman dispatches, the pontiff assured Governor Taft that he was most satisfied and happy at the results so far obtained and that he was confident the negotiations begun in Rome would be the starting point of a complete and satisfactory solution of the question under discussion. This statement sums up in the most exact manner the situation as the Vatican views it and as it really is.

"And now it is to be hoped there will be among certain classes of Catholics in America a cessation of movements and declarations such as we have had recent occasion to hear of regarding religious matters in the Philippines. The pope teaches those Catholics to trust the American government as they seemingly have been heretofore unwilling to do.

"In his conversation with Governor Taft he expressed the highest esteem for American methods of treating church matters and remarked that he had more than once pointed toward the United States as setting an example well worth copying. His words ought to signify something to those who profess to take him as their leader and guide.

"The agitation, such as it was, in certain Catholic quarters did no honor to those who participated in it. As is now proven, they spoke and acted without due knowledge and certainly without proper regard for the government of their country. They should first have been absolutely certain that injustices had been done to their coreligionists.

"There should have been no haste to lay blame upon the government, which was doing its best to bring order out of chaos, and above all no charges should have been made against the intentions of the government. It was rankest rashness and rankest injustice to intimate that the government intended to proselytize in the Philippines or to do aught to detach the inhabitants from the Catholic faith. To know in the slightest degree Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Root or Mr. Taft is to be certain that nothing of the kind could have been thought of or could have been tolerated. Never did there reside in the White House a man more fair minded and impartial in religious matters, more resolute to give all classes of citizens the religious rights granted them by the constitution and to protect them in those rights than Theodore Roosevelt. During his administration it is unqualifiedly absurd to imagine that governmental acts could be such as to deny or impair the religious rights of any people or tribe over whom floats the American flag."

Taft Says Farewell.

ROME, July 22.—The pope received Governor Taft and the members of his party in a farewell audience yesterday. His holiness expressed pleasure at the success of the mission. He also expressed sympathy with the president and the American people. The pope decorated the members of the party, who afterward went to greet Cardinal Rampolla, the papal secretary of state.

Fire at Block Island.

BLOCK ISLAND, R. I., July 19.—Yesterday's fire at Block Island was the most disastrous that ever visited this place. It started in the barn of the Ocean cottage and before it was checked destroyed one side of the main business street.

THIRTEEN LIVES LOST.

City of Baltimore Visited by a Terrible Storm.

BALTIMORE, July 21.—A fierce tornado characterized by a windstorm of extraordinary velocity, thunder, vivid lightning and a heavy rain suddenly burst upon Baltimore at 1:30 p. m. yesterday, coming from the southwest, with the net result that thirteen persons lost their lives, hundreds of houses were unroofed, trees in the public parks and streets were torn up by the roots, many buildings damaged and several people injured. The storm exhausted its fury in less than fifteen minutes. The damage done in the business part of the city was comparatively slight, being confined to the blowing down of signs and injuries to roofs. It was in the residence portions of the city, along the river front and in the harbor where the wind spent its violence.

Of those who perished nine were drowned in the harbor from open boats, one was killed by a falling tree and one by a live wire.

A hole several feet in diameter was blown in the wall of St. Mary's Star of the Sea Catholic church in South Baltimore. A portion of the stone cornice, weighing more than a ton, fell to the street. Fortunately no one was injured by the falling stone and brick. The damage to the church is estimated at $7,000. At the foot of Concord street the Merchants and Miners' Transportation company's warehouse was unroofed, with small damage to the building, but the rain poured in on the valuable stock stored therein, doing a damage which is estimated at from $100,000 to $300,000. The gas reservoir in South Baltimore, containing about 300,000 feet of gas, was blown over, the gas exploding, without injuring any one, the damage being placed at $15,000.

At St. Michaels, Md., two young men, Harry Appel, aged twenty-two, and Maurice Small, aged twenty-three, of Baltimore were drowned while bathing in Miles river.

Death In a Cloudburst.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., July 21.—The heavy rains which have prevailed in this section for the past few days ended in three separate cloudbursts within the limits of Broome county alone and several in surrounding territory to the northward, breaking mill dams, washing out railroad tracks and highway bridges and doing much minor damage as well as delaying trains. As a result of the waters' mad work four are killed and two seriously injured and $200,000 of monetary damage has been done.

The Mohawk Again Rampant.

UTICA, N. Y., July 21.—Heavy rain during the past forty-eight hours has again overflowed the Mohawk river and the lowlands. It is believed the oat, hay and corn crops will be very small. There is a noticeable shrinkage in the flow of milk because of wet pastures.

Disgrace Killing Mrs. Strong.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Mrs. W. L. Strong, the mother of the missing Captain Putnam Bradlee Strong, accused by May Yohe of stealing $200,000 worth of her jewels, lies dangerously ill at the Hotel Grosvenor. She calls constantly for her son and cannot be comforted without him. Since Thursday her condition has changed steadily for the worse, and Manager Orvis of the Grosvenor says that her physician has called five and six times every day since then. The disgrace brought upon her by her son is killing her.

Thousands of Harvesters Needed.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 22.—It is estimated that from 20,000 to 25,000 harvesters will be required in this part of the west. The Canadian Pacific Railroad company is arranging with the Allan and Beaver steamship lines to bring laborers from England at exceptionally cheap rates. General Manager McNicholl is here and hopes to avoid a grain blockade this year. The road, he says, has purchased a hundred new engines and will have 10,000 cars available.

A Record Corn Crop.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Paul Morton, first vice president of the Santa Fe road, predicts a record crop of corn for the west and the entire country this season. He estimates the total crop of the country at 2,500,000,000 bushels and declares that the railroads of the west will have all they can do to handle the crop.

Newspaper to Print the Bible.

PANA, Ill., July 22.—The Assumption Independent, a weekly newspaper, announces that it will begin the publication of the holy Bible this week, commencing with Genesis and continuing until the whole is published. According to the plan, it will require fifty years to complete the publication.

BERLIN, July 22.—Special telegrams received here from Kiel confirm the report that Emperor William has bought Francis R. Riggs' thirty foot yacht Uncle Sam, winner of the kaiser's gold cup. His majesty intends to sail her in the 1903 regattas without competing for prizes.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 18.—A sailboat containing sixteen persons capsized during a squall in the lower harbor yesterday afternoon, and fourteen were drowned. The bodies of eight were recovered.

RIOTING STIRS PARIS

Enforcement of Law Against Congregations the Cause.

CLERICALS DENOUNCE THE ACTION.

Agitation Not Likely to Create Serious Disturbance, as the Opposition Is In a Hopeless Minority.

PARIS, July 23.—Riots occurred yesterday after the distribution of prizes at a school belonging to an unauthorized congregation in the Avenue Parmentier here as the result of violent speeches denouncing the government's action in closing the establishments of unauthorized congregations. Crowds broke through the police cordon and shouted "Vive la liberte!" Francois Coppee, the author and poet, who was the chief speaker; Deputy Lerolle, Gaston Merry and the Abbe Partural were arrested.

The determined firmness with which the government is carrying out the law against unauthorized congregations is lashing the clericals to fury, which culminated in yesterday's disorderly demonstrations in Paris. Similar, though less violent, scenes accompanied the closing of the schools and the departure of the teachers to other places.

As a matter of fact, however, the clericals are manifestly in a hopeless minority throughout the country. Many municipal councils in all sections of France, including those of such important cities as Lyons, Tours, Epernay and Beauvais, are voting resolutions approving the government's action, congratulating the ministry upon its firmness and urging it to continue its defense of civil society against the encroachments of the congregations.

The government is certainly applying the law with all possible moderation and, with the country behind it, will, it is believed, accomplish the task undertaken before parliament reassembles. The clericals will doubtless continue their agitation, but the movement is not likely to lead to any practical result or cause serious disturbance of public order.

DESTRUCTIVE FLOODS.

Damage Along the Mississippi of Many Millions.

KEOKUK, Ia., July 21.—Exploration of the flooded districts of the Mississippi river from Keokuk south shows conditions beyond the appreciation or realization of any but those of long experience with the Father of Waters in its most destructive mood.

The situation is growing worse hourly, and a great conflagration in a great city would not be more rapidly destructice of values. There is absolutely not the slightest chance of stopping this most costly flood in the history of the great river above St. Louis.

Everywhere the greatest crops ever known are under water deep enough to float a steamboat. People at the river cities give accounts of losses aggregating many millions of dollars. Hundreds of farmers rich ten days ago are penniless and homeless.

Careful estimates gathered from the statements of best informed people indicate the loss up to the present at about $6,000,000, with every prospect of $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 additional by the rise above not yet reaching the lower stretches of the river.

Most of this loss is on the Missouri side of the river between Keokuk and Hannibal.

It is hoped to raise this money among the personal friends of the late president.

Fire In Roebling Works.

TRENTON, N. J., July 21.—A gasoline tank in the Roebling works exploded at about 10:30 o'clock last night and set fire to the braiding shop and the gasoline shop adjoining. The fire entered the pattern shop, and therefore the latest estimate of the damage is $200,000. The braiding shop was a four story structure. It covered ten acres and was full of machinery.

The Chinese Invasion.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 23.—The gross revenue from Chinese immigration to Canada for the year ending June 30 amounts to $364,972, compared with $178,704 during the previous year. The poll tax last year was increased from $50 to $100. The number who paid the tax was 3,525, compared with 2,518 in 1901.

Fatal Collision.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 21.—A fatal head on collision occurred between two passenger trains on the Lehigh Valley railroad near Hope hospital, this city, last evening, in which one person was almost instantly killed and fifteen others were more or less seriously injured.

RURAL MAIL BOXES.

Postmaster General Decrees That People Along Route Must Buy Their Own.

Official notification from Washington has been received throughout the state that Postmaster General H. C. Payne has decided upon new styles of mail boxes for rural free delivery and that after October 1 those persons not complying with the conditions of the order will nor receive the service, but be compelled to go after their mail. The inferior boxes now in general use are frequently pilfered, principally by children, and postoffice inspectors are put to much trouble tracing lost mail. Each person entitled to free rural delivery must erect the boxes at his own cost, by the roadside, so that the carrier can easily obtain access to them without dismounting from his vehicle, and the same box cannot be used by more than one family, except in case of near relatives or those residing in the same house.

This order will necessitate the removal of thousands of mail boxes in the rural districts of the United States and will prove a temporary boom to the business of mail box manufacturers.

The order provides that firms or individuals who propose to manufacture the boxes should submit them to the examination of the special agents of the district in which the factory is located. All boxes found to comply with the requirements and specifications of this order will be marked "Approved by the Postmaster General," and will then come under the protection of the act providing for punishment of those canght tampering with mail boxes. The rural carriers are given exphcit orders not to serve persons who do not erect the boxes. Postmaster General Payne points out that experience has shown that boxes opening at the side or top are more convenient than those opening at the end.

STATE MUST BUILD 21 BRIDGES.

Over $400,000 to be Spent in Replacing Structures.

Pennsylvania will within the coming year pay out between $400,000 and $500,000 for bridges destroyed by floods and fires in the past six months, as the law compelling the state to replace bridges across navigable streams when they have been destroyed by flood, fire, etc. is being invoked in many counties.

When the bridge is destroyed the county commissioners, through their attorney, present a request to the attorney general asking for viewers, and the matter is taken into the Dauphin county court, which appoints the viewers. If the report is favorable it is approved by the court and the matter then goes to the Board of Public Buildings and Grounds, which sends out engineers to estimate the cost, and then the contract is set.

Engineers are now out examining locations for twenty-one bridges that the state will build in various counties of the state. The engineers now engaged in preparing plans and specifications for the twenty-one bridges are M. D. Bowers, Mahanoy City; Herman Loeb, Pittsburg; Oscar Thompson, Phœnixville; Emil Swennson, Pittsburg, and A. J. Whitney, Rome.

The cost of the bridges is from $5,000 to $115,000 each, and there is apprehension that when the law becomes better known there will be a raid on the treasury. It is said an effort will be made to repeal the law at the next session of the legislature.

Opinions vs. Convictions.

The difference between opinions and convictions is the same as that between a steamship without a fire under her boilers, and a steamship with a full head of steam on. The first may float for a time toward the haven, but it is because the wind or tide chances to be in her favor; the other drives her prow with conquering force against wind and wave and tide toward the home port because there is mighty energy within.

A man talks about owning his business. But, as a matter of fact his business owns him. His whole life is regulated by the demands of the business. The time at which he rises, his breakfast hour, the time given to meals, are all determined by business obligations. He rushes through lunch because he "can't spare the time from business" to eat leisurely. He won't take a rest because he is needed at the store or office. He is in fact an absolute slave to business. The results which follow this slavery are to be seen on every hand. Men dyspeptic, irritable, nervous, with drawn faces, and hollow eyes, sit at the desk or stand behind the counter until they collapse in a fit of sickness, or are taken away by heart failure. Those who cannot escape the exactions of business will find a friend in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the stomach, increases the action of the blood-making glands, increasing the vitality and physical vigor. It makes men strong and prevents those business break downs which so often terminate fatally.

THERE IS ONE RATIONAL WAY to treat nasal catarrh: the medicine is applied direct to the affected membrane. The remedy is Ely's Cream Balm. It restores the inflamed tissues to a healthy state without drying all the life out of them and it gives back the lost senses of taste and smell. The sufferer who is tired of vain experiments should use Cream Balm. Druggists sell it for 50 cts. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York, will mail it.

VAST CORN CROP.

The Present Estimate For This Year is Two and One-Half Billion Bushels.

Preliminary returns to the statistician of the department of agriculture on the acreage of corn planted indicate an increase of about 3,520,000 acres, of 3.9 per cent on the area harvested last year. Of the twenty-five states and territories with 1,000,000 acres or upwards in corn harvested last year Iowa, Nebraska and Michigan report an increase of 1 per cent; Pennsylvania, Indiana, Virginia and Louisiana, 2 per cent; Georgia, Arkansas, Wisconsin and Missouri, 3 per cent; Ohio, Illinois, Mississippi and Indian Territory, 4 per cent; Kansas, Kentucky and Tennessee, 5 per cent; North Carolina and South Carolina, 6 per cent; Texas, 7 per cent; Alabama, 8 per cent; Minnesota, 9 per cent; and South Dakota and Oklahoma, 11 per cent. The average condition of the growing crop on July 1st was 87.5 as compared with 81.3 on July 1, 1901; 89.5 at the corresponding date in 1900, and a ten-year average of 89.2. The condition of Illinois was 91; in Iowa, Nebraska and Indiana, 90, in Karsas and Oklahoma, 99; in Missouri, 102; in Ohio, 87, and in Texas, 41. The crop this year will be enormous. The present estimate is 2,589,951,000 bushels.

FARMERS MAY KNOW WEATHER.

Flags to be Carried on Rural Free Delivery Routes.

The United States department of agriculture will, through its weather bureau, introduce a system of flag signals on wagons delivering rural mail that is expected to be of great benefit to the farmers and all interested in agricultural pursuits. The system will soon go into effect.

The flags are numbered from one to five. The first is of plain white indicating fair weather; No. 2 is of dark blue, which bespeaks rain or snow; No. 3 is also a square flag, the upper half of white and the lower of blue, indicating local rain or snow. No. 4 is a triangular flag, which denotes the temperature. If placed above the square flag, it means that warmer weather is promised, and if below colder weather is coming. The cold wave flag is square and of white, with a blue disc in the centre. A glance at these flags when the wagon drives by will tell the farmer just what weather conditions are to be expected.

AUTHORS' BLUNDERS.

Some Mistakes In Which the Moon, Sun and Wind Figure.

The moon proves a terrible pitfall to most writers. Wilkie Collins once performed the marvelous feat of making it rise in the west. Rider Haggard, in "King Solomon's Mines," relies for the effective rendering of one of his most thrilling scenes upon an eclipse of the new moon.

Coleridge placed a star between the horns of the crescent moon, forgetting that to be visible in such a position the star would have to be between the earth and the moon or, say, 230,000 miles away only.

Next to the moon perhaps the sun is responsible for more glaring errors than any single concrete cause. At the beginning of a certain famous novel, the title of which a few years back was in everybody's mouth, an invalid character's room was said to have been lighted by one window looking directly toward the east. Yet at the end of the book, when the invalid dies, the author, wishing to make him depart this life in a flood of glory, suffuses this eastern windowed room with "the red glare of the setting sun."

Kingsley, too, made one of his heroes row out into the eastern ocean after the setting sun. But even this glaring absurdity has been capped. In a novel published by a well known firm there occurs the following passage, the scene being laid on board a big sailing ship: "'How's the wind?' asked the skipper. 'East-northeast,' replied the mate, glancing at the masthead pennant, which was streaming blithely in the direction indicated." So that in the world, according to novelists, we should not only find the sun setting in the east, but pennants would "stream" against the direction of the prevailing wind.

A TOPSY TURVY ROOM.

A Frenchman Who Plays Practical Jokes on His Guests.

A "topsy turvy room," writes a correspondent, not illusory, but actually so built, existed near Paris some years ago and may still exist. One who saw it thus describes it and the use to which it was put: "I was the guest of the owner of the house," he says, "from Saturday to Monday. He was a bachelor, very convivial in his tastes, and we were a very jolly party of men. When we woke up, about 2 o'clock on the Sunday morning, one of our number, sound asleep on the couch in the billiard room, was carried out like a log by a couple of servants. My host gave me a solemn wink and told me that if a sudden summons came I was to rush from my bedroom or else I might miss a sight worth seeing. I wanted nothing but sleep and was relieved when the summons came to find that it was broad daylight.

"Yawning, I followed the valet and found myself, with four others, silently peeping through little holes in the wall. The scene was absurd, ridiculous. A dazed man slowly waking to full consciousness was lying on a plastered floor, looking up in horror at a carpeted ceiling. Two heavy couches, an easy chair, chairs and tables securely fastened stared down at him from above. The man's eyes at last rested on a flowerpot directly over his head, from which a flaring rose, apparently real, was blooming. He gave a cry and, rolling over, grasped with frenzied hands the stem of the chandelier, which came up through the floor. The host burst into the room, with a loud laugh. 'They all do it,' he cried. 'They fear they will fall up to the ceiling.'"

"Sit" and "Set."

Some one who believes in teaching by example has concocted a lesson in the use of two little words which have been a source of mortification and trouble to many well meaning persons.

A man or woman either can set a hen, although they cannot sit her; neither can they set on her, although the hen might sit on them by the hour if they would allow it.

A man cannot set on the wash bench, but he could set the basin on it, and neither the basin nor the grammarians would object.

He could sit on the dog's tail if the dog were willing or he might set his foot on it. But if he should set on the aforesaid tail or sit his foot there the grammarians as well as the dog would howl, metaphorically at least.

And yet the man might set the tail aside and then sit down and be assailed neither by the dog nor by the grammarians.

Not Worry, but Slumber.

They were discussing suicides and the proneness of different peoples to depart in that way when one of those engaged in the conversation turned to a colored man and asked, "Why is it that so few of your people take their own lives?"

After scratching his head a moment the person addressed responded, "Well, I tell you, boss; when a nigger sits down he don't worry, but goes to sleep."—New York Times.

WASHINGTON.

From our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, July 21, 1902.

"No admission," is the greeting that meets the visitor in Washington who attempts to enter the White House grounds, and many have expressed serious disappointment at their inability to inspect the home of the President. But it should prove some compensation to loyal Americans to know that for the first time since 1881 the White House is receiving a thorough renovation. Those who have visited the building in recent years can testify to the necessity for such an overhauling. As the wealth and greatness of the country have increased the demands on the executive mansion have grown and for some years its accommodations have not been sufficient to secure to the President and his family that comfort and privacy to which they are entitled. The office force has grown constantly and new rooms have had to be converted into offices until but a small portion of the second floor of the building was available for residence purposes and ordinarily more than half of the first floor was open to the public during certain hours of the day. When the present renovation is completed and the new office building, which is being erected just west of the White House, is finished the entire second floor will be restored to its original purpose, a residence for the President and his family.

In the basement, on the East end of the building, there are to be reception and cloak-rooms and the present entrance on that end will be greatly enlarged. There all persons having occasion to call at the President's home will enter, the former main door being reserved for the exclusive use of the family. Persons who have occasion to call on the President on business will be directed to the new office building at the west side of the grounds. This building will have accommodations for the entire clerical force heretofore located in the White House and will also be provided with a large Cabinet room, a private office for the President and one for his secretary, a reception room of generous proportions, a room for telegraph and telephone purposes and a comfortable room for the use of newspaper correspondents, where every convenience will be afforded them for obtaining and preparing the news.

At present, the clerical force of the President is divided between Oyster Bay, where a few rooms in a bank building have been rented for the purpose, and a rented residence on Jackson Place, across Lafayette Place from the White House grounds, where the major portion of the force is installed. This, by the way, is the first time that the White House has been completely vacated since it was entered by President Monroe on the day of his inauguration Mar. 4. 1817. The White House was originally completed in the fall of 1800, the cornerstone having been laid eight years before, but, as every American boy and girl knows, it was burned by the British on August 24, 1814 and it was not until 1817 that the rebuilding was completed.

The interior of the White House looks today as if it had been the victim of a Kansas cyclone, even the floors having been removed. The staircase at the East end of the lobby, up which have toiled so many thousands of anxious office seekers, have been removed and, while it is impossible to secure from the architects all the details of their plans, it is believed that the space formerly occupied by the old staircase will be occupied by a far more elaborate one leading up from the basement and the reception and cloak rooms located therein. The interior decorations of the building are to be elaborate and beautiful and it is promised that when completed the interior of the White House will possess a most attractive and artistic appearance. All who have attended the presidential receptions will appreciate the convenience that will be derived by the new entrance for, heretofore, the crowding about the cloakrooms, erected temporarily in the main lobby, has been deplorable. It is the expectation of the architects that they will be able to turn the completed residence over to the President on his return to Washington in October, although from the present appearance of the building that hardly seems possible.

The answer of the United States Steel Corporation, otherwise known as the Steel Trust, filed in the New Jersey Courts and sworn to by Mr. Chas. Schwab and other officers of the company, has set the gentlemen at democratic headquarters to work making some interesting deductions. Mr. Schwab says that the assests of the company amount to $1,400,271,000 and that the net profits of the concern are $140,000,000 per annum. He further states that these profits could be reduced seventy-five per cent and still leave ample to pay interest on the company's bonds and provide for its sinking funds, these fixed charges amounting to but $31,737,850. This is the corporation, it will be remembered, which is charging American manufacturers and shipbuilders from thirty to thirty-five per cent more for the steel they are compelled to use than it is charging British and other manufacturers for the same material. When Representative Richardson of Tennessee offered a bill in the House which provided for the removal of the duty on goods made by trusts, the republicans charged him with desiring to wreck American industries. The duty on steel will average forty-five per cent so that how far this charge was from the truth may be easily seen.

Senators Carmack and Dubois are both in Washington and are rendering every assistance possible at Democratic headquarters. Senator Dubois recently called your correspondent's attention to the fact that he offered in the Senate an amendment to the Permanent Census bill which provided for the very publicity for the trusts which was recommended by the President in his message and that the amendment was defeated by a strict party vote. Representative Sulzer offered a similar amendment in the House and Representative Bell, of Colorado, offered a bill for controlling the trusts based on his observations as a member of the Industrial Commission, but all of these were defeated by republican votes or influence. In view of these facts, Senator Dubois regards it as little short of ludicrous that the President should attempt to mislead the people as to the real relations of the republican party to the trusts, after Congress has adjourned and just before an election.

It is believed in Washington that Senator Spooner has been invited to go to Paris in connection with the Panama Canal title and that General Wood is to be made chief of the canal construction commission. Evidently Mr. Roosevelt is inclined to follow the example of Mr. Hanna, in standing by his friends, even if he is not equally judicious in their selection.

Free Baggage Transfer.

The Philadelphia and Reading railway announces that to accommodate the patrons of their special low-rate 10-day seashore excursions, July 24, August 7 and 21, arrangements have been made whereby passengers for Atlantic City will, on payment of 10 cents, in addition to the special excursion rate, at time of purchasing tickets, be entitled to the free transfer through Philadelphia of one piece of baggage in each direction. This affords Atlantic City excursionists who desire to spend any time in Philadelphia for business an opportunity to do so, unhampered with baggage by checking same through to destination. 7-17

HARRISBURG LETTER.

Quay Gone to the Pine Woods—Penrose Remains to Commune Unto Himself and Watch the Growing List of Candidates for U. S. Seuate.

Quay has gone to the pine woods in the wilds of Maine, and nearly all his prominent lieutenants are taking a rest after their arduous labors of working the dear people and one another. Penrose is about the only one who remains at his post and he is hanging on the ragged edge of the political precipice by his eyebrows. He is afraid to allow his Senatorial boom to get out of his sight, and the next few months are likely to be among the most interesting as well as the most disappointing of his life. He is spending a good deal of time trying to reach a conclusion as to whether Quay will stand by him in his hour of need or whether he will desert him at the eleventh hour as he did Elkin, and declare that the safety of the gang demands his withdrawal from the senatorial race. In fact he is not certain that his seat has not already been hypothecated.

QUAY'S WORD DOUBTFUL.

In speaking of Pennypacker's sickening eulogy declaring that Quay keeps his every word an exmember of Congress, a Republican from Western Pennsylvania said a few days ago, "There may have been a time when Quay was true to his friends and tried to make his word good but for several years, since I have been more or less familiar with him and his methods, he has never hesitated to pledge anything in sight to help himself out of a tight place regardless of his ability to fulfill his promises. In many cases within recent years he has openly betrayed some of his most faithful followers, and it is for this more than anything else that revolt among his lieutenants became so strong this year—a revolt that would have ended his leadership but for Durham who turned traitor to those who had determined to end the Old Man's leadership."

With this record of Quay's dishonored pledges before him Penrose is already beginning to be haunted with a suspicion that he will get the harpoon under the short ribs just as Elkin did, as soon as Quay finds that another scape-goat is needed upon which he may load the political sins of his own devising. He has succeeded in a measure in drawing the wool over the public eye so as to make it appear that Stone and Elkin are the bad men who concocted all the corrupt schemes of the last Legislature and that he, the dear good old soul that he is known to be, did his level best to make the boys behave, but failed. Now, if the people keep their senses and rebuke the machine this fall, Quay will try to make it appear that Penrose is the remaining Jonah, that his unpopularity caused the defeat and that it is time to dump him overboard to save the political ship. Quay has always shown himself willing to make great sacrifices. Like Artemas Ward, who was willing to sacrifice all his wife's relations, Quay would not hesitate to sacrifice his whole political crew to save his own bacon.

A FEW CANDIDATES.

With Jim Mitchell, Senator Snyder and Congressman Connell, already in the race for Penrose's seat with a half dozen more who will announce later the prospect for the Philadelphian, is not encouraging, and he no doubt regrets that he was a party to the deal that caused "Is" Durham to prove traitor to those who were in revolt against the Old Man.

Before Quay left for the woods he had it announced that he had posted $20,000 in a Pittsburg bank to bet on Pennypacker's election. Instead of this being considered a good campaign card, sensible men consider it a sure indication that Quay is apprehensive of the result this fall. It is like whistling to keep one's courage up. Betting is the logic of the barroom, the argument of the gambler and has been considered in every civilized country as contrary to good order, and in many states is punishable by law. A judge in this state a year ago declared that a man who had wagered money on the result of an election had disfranchised himself thereby from voting at that election. If it was Judge Pennypacker he would doubtless now take occasion to reverse himself, because Quay seems to be his ideal of the true the beautiful and the good, and if the Old Man should decide to revise the ten commandments Pennypacker would, no doubt, at once adopt the revised edition.

THE PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER.

The Philadelphia Inquirer which condemned the bribery that defeated Elkin as the rankest outrage ever perpetrated in Pennsylvania politics, is now trying to do works meet for repentance. It eats a small piece of crow once or twice a week in order to become accustomed to the unsavory dish as a steady diet when the campaign opens. It criticises one of our recent letters which contained some strictures on Pennypacker's nomination, and declares that Pennypacker was not nominated to please us. If the Inquirer's scathing editorials from day to day before the convention were not made in a merely Pickwickian sense, Pennypacker's nomination was not made to please the Inquirer any more than to please us, and hence we are equal on that score. The difference is we are still free to condemn the rank bribery by which the Inquirer declared forty-one of Elkin's delegates were made to desert him, while the Inquirer is too cowardly to say a word now against what was consummated as it admitted by the rankest sort of bribery. The Inquirer's course is simply another proof that a party organ's partisanship is sufficient to insure its support of the party no matter how unworthy its candidates nor how criminal the means employed to nominate them.

ANDREW J. PALM.

FRITZ WITHDRAWS

From The Congressional Fight, Leaving Dickerman With an Open Field.

There will be no contest for the Democratic nomination for Congress from this district. Hon. Andrew L. Fritz, of Bloomsburg, has withdrawn from the fight leaving Charles H. Dickerman, of Milton. with an open field and he will of course be the unanimous choice of the party. This move was taken by Mr. Fritz on Tuesday after carefully considering the situation, and he immediately notified the Democratic chairman of Sullivan county to omit his name from the ticket.

At the primaries in this county Mr. Fritz was given nearly 4000 votes Dickerman carried Northumberland county by 5500 and he also had a majority in Montour. The fight in Sullivan gave promise of being a very close one, but even had Mr. Fritz allowed his name to go before the people of that county and secured their endorsement, it mould have been extremely hard to overcome Mr. Dickerman's lead. And again, with Mr. Fritz as Sullivan's choice it would have been a tie, and the nomination in all probability have gone to Dickerman on the ground of the popular vote. After a consideration of these facts the wisdom of Mr. Fritz' move is apparent.

Still Deadlocked.

The Republican conferees have made three ineffectual attempts to name a candidate for congress. The last meeting was held at Milton on Tuesday when fifty-seven ballots were taken, on every one of which Evans of Berwick received the votes of Columbia and Montour and Godcharles of Milton those of Northumberland and Sullivan, seven each. The next meeting will be held in Berwick on Tuesday August 5th, when, if no candidate is chosen, another conferee will be appointed, as provided for in such contingencies, who will have the deciding vote.

Thursday's Session of Court.

There was a short session of Court held Thursday of last week, with Hon. R. R. Little presiding. Associate J. T. Fox was also on the bench. The following business was transacted.

A Billion Dollars in Dispute.

A special from Pottsville says: More than 100 representatives of the 100 heirs to a fortune of $1,000,000,000 claimed by the descendants of Aneka Jane Webber, and consisting of property in the vicinity of New York City, and also the heirs of Anna Brower and John McClower, met here Saturday and mapped out a plan of legal action which will be at once inaugurated in New York courts.

The land involved in the Webber claim, and upon which the other claims are contingent, comprises less than 100 acres in Harlem and the Trinity Church property in New York City. This claim is based on a land grant by King William of Holland to his grand-daughter, Aneka Jane Webber, shortly after the settlement of New Amsterdam. The chief litigant is Charles Hansom Hull, of Iowa. The heirs are scattered all over the United States.

One Way of Courting.

When a Fiji Islander wants to get a wife he secrets himself in the underbrush and rushes out and stuns with a club the maiden of his choice as she passes. If she survives the blow she becomes his wife. If it kills her the warrior goes back to the brush and waits for another to come along. It is easy for a Fiji Islander to transfer his affections.

Eczema

How it reddens the skin, itches, oozes, dries and scales!

Some people call it tetter, milk crust or salt rheum.

The suffering from it is sometimes intense; local applications are resorted to—they mitigate, but cannot cure.

It proceeds from humors inherited or acquired and persists until these have been removed.

positively removes them, has radically and permanently cured the worst cases, and is without an equal for all cutaneous eruptions.

HOOD'S PILLS are the best cathartic. Price 25 cents.

The State at a Glance.

The Largest Poultry Farm in America.

The Meadow Brook Poultry farm, at Dallas, near Wilkes Barre, the largest in America, has been formed into a stock company, and money raised for extensive additions and improvement. The demand for chickens, turkeys, ducks and geese for the market, and fancy eggs for hatching, has grown so in the past several years that the capacity of the farm has been taxed and it is found necessary to keep up with the market.

The plant is complete in every detail, and occupies some thirty-five acres of carefully laid out ground in numerous divisions and pens. The floor area of the buildings now in use is 112,000 square feet. The incubator room alone has a capacity of 20,000 eggs in incubation at once.

The chief market is in New York city and Philadelphia, the summer hotels and the large restaurants, and shipments are made daily.

The company will proceed with the work of enlarging the plant during the summer, and its capacity will within a year, it is expected, be increased one-third.

Pennsylvania has always been a state of great importance in the lumber industry. In 1850 it was exceeded in product only by New York, and in 1860 it took first place. In 1870 and 1880 it was exceeded by Michigan only. In 1890 Michigan and Wisconsin produced more, and in 1900 the third of the lake states Minnesota, also took rank above it, making it the fourth state in the country and the first in the east.

ITS CARE.

A good watch is like a good horse. Treat it right and it will serve you well for years. Neglect it and you will shorten its days of usefulness. Good treatment consists of regularity in winding and cleaning and oiling. Always wind it in the morning. Your time of rising is more regular than your time of retiring. You carry your watch during the day and it needs the full strength of the mainspring. Don't let it run without attention till it stops. Choose some day of the year [your birthday is easy to remember] and have it cleaned and oiled regularly on that day. It doesn't take much oil to satisfy a watch, but when it does need, it needs badly. Carry a good dust proof case and never open the back. Always have a watch maker regulate it. He won't charge you for doing it and he knows just how. By following these rules a good movement will last you a life time. When you're done with it it will still be a good time keeper for your boy and your boy's boy to carry in turn,

Over Forty Years of Good Service Praised by Secretary Root.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Major General John R. Brooke, U. S. A., commander of the department of the east, whose headquarters have been at Governors island, retired yesterday, having reached the age limit. He was succeeded by Major General Arthur MacArthur, who will be in command at Governors island until the arrival of General Chaffee from the Philippines. After leaving New York General

MAJOR GENERAL BROOKE.

Brooke intends going to Philadelphia for a few days to superintend the completion of his home at Rosemont, then to join his wife at Bar Harbor. General Brooke was born at the Brooke farm, near Pottsville, Pa., in 1838.

Secretary Root in announcing the retirement of General Brooke paid him the following tribute:

"The retirement from active service this date by operation of law of Major General John R. Brooke, U. S. A., is announced, terminating a period of over forty years of efficient, honorable and distinguished service on the active list of the volunteer and regular army.

"During his long service General Brooke has exercised important military commands, both in peace and war, and always with credit and honor to himself and to the country.

"It is a pleasure to refer to a record such as this, which would serve as an example and an inspiration to every young officer who has yet to shape his character and career in the military service."

Santos-Dumont Arrives.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Santos-Dumont, the famous aeronaut, arrived unexpectedly on the Kronprinz Wilhelm of the North German Lloyd line. He said he would make his ascensions from Brighton Beach according to programme. He was much gratified to learn that the preparations were so well under way. He explained the accident to Severo's airship by saying his gasoline motor was too near the escape valve, and the gasoline became ignited thereby.

Quayaquil's Conflagration.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, July 19.—The fire which broke out here at 9 o'clock Wednesday night has been extinguished after having destroyed ninety blocks on some of the principal streets of the city. The loss on buildings and merchandise is estimated at $5,000,000. The burned buildings include the custom house and railway station. The city is without gas, and the only water to be had is that taken from the river Guayas.

Another Collapse Threatened.

LONDON, July 23.—A dispatch to the Central News from Venice reports that the monumental clock tower of Santo Stefano shows signs of collapsing and that precautions have been ordered to prevent its fall.

WONDERFUL BROECK

A Neatness and a Brilliancy That Are Absolutely Painful Pervade the Whole Place—Rules Which the Inhabitants Must Observe.

Far up in northern Holland among the dikes and canals of the little kingdom lies Broeck, the original Spotless Town. The palings of the fences of Broeck are sky blue. The streets are paved with shining bricks of many colors. The houses are rose colored, black, gray, purple, light blue or pale green. The doors are painted and gilded. For hours you may not see a soul in the streets or at the windows. The streets and houses, bridges, windows and barns show a neatness and a brilliancy that are absolutely painful. At every step a new effect is disclosed, a new scene is beheld, as if painted upon the drop curtain of a stage. Everything is minute, compact, painted, spotless and clean. In the houses of Broeck for cleaning purposes you will find big brooms, little brooms, toothbrushes, aqua fortis, whiting for the window panes, rouge for the forks and spoons, coal dust for the copper, emery for the iron utensils, brick powder for the floors and even small splinters of wood with which to pick out the tiny bits of straw in the cracks between the bricks. Here are some of the rules of this wonderful town:

Citizens must leave their shoes at the door when entering a house.

Before or after sunset no one is allowed to smoke excepting with a pipe having a cover, so that the ashes will not be scattered upon the street.

Any one crossing the village on horseback must get out of the saddle and lead the horse.

A cuspidor shall be kept by the front door of each house, where it may be accessible from the window.

It is forbidden to cross the village in a carriage or to drive animals through the streets.

In addition to these established rules it is the custom for every citizen who sees a leaf or a bit of straw blown before his house by the wind to pick it up and throw it into the canal. The people go 500 paces out of the village to dust their shoes. Dozens of boys are paid to blow the dust from between the bricks in the streets four times an hour. In certain houses the guests are carried over the threshold so as not to soil the pavements. At one time the mania for cleaning in Broeck reached such a point that the housewives of the village neglected even their religious duties for scrubbing and washing. The village pastor, after trying every sort of persuasion, preached a long sermon, in which he declared that every Dutchwoman who had faithfully fulfilled her duties toward God in this world would find in the next a house packed full of furniture and stored with the most various and precious articles of use and ornament, which, not being distracted by other occupations, she would be able to brush, wash and polish for all eternity. The promise of this sublime recompense and the thought of this extreme happiness filled the women with such fervor and piety that for months thereafter the pastor had no cause for complaint.

Around every house in Broeck are buckets, benches, rakes, hoes and stakes, all colored red, blue, white or yellow. The brilliancy and variety of colors and the cleanliness, brightness and miniature pomp of the place are wonderful. At the windows there are embroidered curtains, with rose colored ribbons. The blades, bands and nails of the gayly painted windmills shine like silver. The houses are brightly varnished and surrounded with red and white railings and fences. The panes of glass in the windows are bordered by many lines of different hues. The trunks of all the trees are painted gray from root to branch. Across the streams are many little wooden bridges, each painted as white as snow. The gutters are ornamented with a sort of wooden festoon, perforated like lace. The pointed facades are surmounted with a small weathercock, a little lance or something resembling a bunch of flowers. Nearly every house has two doors, one in front and one behind, the last for everyday entrance and exit and the former opened only on great occasions, such as births, deaths and marriages.

The gardens are as peculiar as the houses. The paths are hardly wide enough to walk in. One could put his arm around the flowerbeds. The dainty arbors would barely hold two persons sitting close together. The little myrtle hedges would scarcely reach to the knees of a four-year-old child. Between the arbors and the flower beds run little canals which seem made to float paper boats. They are crossed by miniature wooden bridges, with colored pillars and parapets. There are ponds the size of a bath, which are almost concealed by lilliputian boats tied with red cords to blue stakes, tiny staircases and miniature kitchen gardens. Everything could be measured with the hand, crossed at a leap, demolished by a blow. Moreover, there are trees cut in the shape of fans, plumes and disks, with their trunks colored white and blue. At every step one discovers a new effect, a fresh combination of hues, a novel caprice, some new absurdity.

The rooms are very tiny and resemble so many bazaars. There are porcelain figures on the cupboard, Chinese cups and sugar bowls on and under the tables, plates fastened on the walls, clocks, ostrich eggs, shells, vases, plates, glasses, placed in every corner and concealed in every nook, cupboards full of hundreds of trifles and ornaments without name, a crowding disorder and utter confusion of colors.—Public Opinion.

FOOD AND THE SEXES.

The Male Human Needs to Eat More Than the Female.

According to a writer in the Lancet, the male human needs more food than the female not only on account of his larger stature, but also because he is the more katabolic of the two. The man tends to expend energy and the woman to store it up in the form of fat; he burns the faster. This sexual difference shows itself in the very blood. The man has a larger percentage of chromocytes than the woman, showing that he needs a proportionately larger quantity of oxygen in order to maintain his more active combustion, a fact which one may associate with his comparative freedom from chlorosis. Moreover, weight for weight, his pulmonary capacity is greater than that of the woman, whose smaller respiratory need is further shown by the facility with which she can without discomfort diminish her breathing power by means of the corset.

"The great contrast between the metabolic activity of the two sexes," continues the writer, "was forcibly brought home to me by a military display given by a troop of dusky amazons, with whom were also a few male warriors. The women, in spite of their daily exertions, were all rounded and plump, some very much so, no single muscle showing through the skin, and it was noticed that their movements, though full of grace, lacked energy and 'go.' The men, on the other hand, were spare, their muscles standing out plainly under the shiny skin, and they, in further contrast with the women, displayed a truly amazing agility, bounding about and whirling round in a most astounding fashion. The women, in short, were essentially anabolic, and the men were katabolic. I may here draw attention to the fact that men are apt to be larger meat eaters than women, just as they are, possibly in consequence of this very fact, more prone to drink alcohol and to smoke tobacco."

SLEEPING HEROES.

Mighty Men of the Past That Are Expected to Return.

Is there any race that has not its sleeping hero? A correspondent recently pointed out that the time for the fulfillment of the prophecy that the tenth of Krishna will restore to India her independence is near at hand, and every nation has some such savior to whom the people look. West country rustics still believe that Arthur did not die, but sleeps in Avalon, and that in the hour of Britain's need he will awake, deliver the land and restore the golden age. In Germany it is a popular belief that Charles V. will some day wake from his enchanted sleep to reign over Germany, Spain, Portugal, Denmark, Belgium and Holland. Thousands of French peasants hold that Napoleon is only sleeping and that at some future time he will reappear and rule. And Mr. Newbolt has enshrined the Devon legend that Drake is only listening for the drum.

The Irish peasantry steadfastly refuse to believe that Mr. Parnell is really dead. They assert that his death was a ruse, that he was an interested spectator of his own funeral and that when the time comes he will emerge from retirement to give Ireland her independence. Every true Moslem believes that when antichrist appears Mohammed Mohadi will awake and conquer him. A Moorish legend declares that Bobadil el Chico sleeps spellbound near the Alhambra and that one day he will awake to re-establish the Moors as rulers of Granada. The Servians look to King Lager, slain by the Turks in 1389, as their final hope, and should Switzerland be again threatened by tyrants Swiss folklore declares that the three members of the Tell family who are sleeping at Rutili, near the Vierwald-Staten-See, will rise from their enchanted slumber and maintain the freedom of the land.—London Chronicle.

Hopi Courtship.

When a Hopi maiden decides which of the eligible young men of the tribe she wishes to marry, she goes and sits in his house and grinds corn until he is sufficiently impressed by her industry to marry her.

After the ceremony, which is an elaborate one, the couple go to live in the wife's house. If she tires of her husband, she can obtain a divorce by merely throwing his saddle out of the house. After marriage the house, fields and all their property except the herds belong to the wife.

The Hopis are indulgent parents. The right of the children to do as they please is never questioned.

How a Woman Gets a Seat.

"I will tell you how to work it," said a woman, whose figure showed she would be tired by standing, to a companion in a Broadway car. "When there is no vacant seat, watch for two men who are in conversation and stand right in front of them.

"Each one will want his friend to think he is very polite, so both of them will jump right up and offer their seats. That's the way I do, and it never fails."—New York Herald.

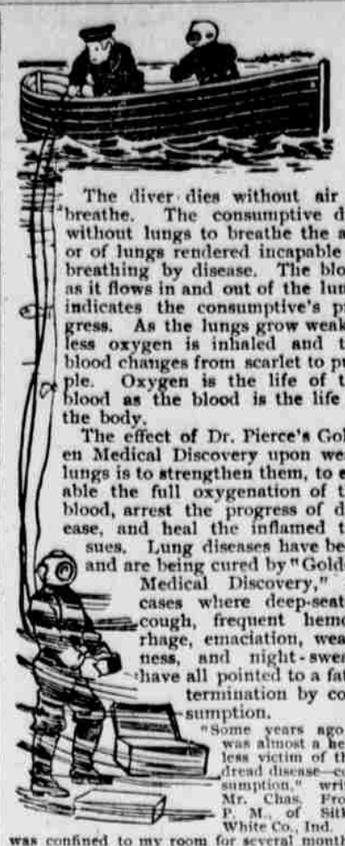
An Effective Way.

"They say," said the young dramatist, "that I shall have to cut my play down, but I really don't know where to begin."

"Why not start at both ends," his candid friend asked, "and work toward the middle?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Opposite Meanings.

"Cleave" is the best instance of an English word with two opposite meanings. "Nervous," "let" and "propugn" are other instances.



The diver dies without air to breathe. The consumptive dies without lungs to breathe the air, or of lungs rendered incapable of breathing by disease. The blood as it flows in and out of the lungs indicates the consumptive's progress. As the lungs grow weaker less oxygen is inhaled and the blood changes from scarlet to purple. Oxygen is the life of the blood as the blood is the life of the body.

The effect of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery upon weak lungs is to strengthen them, to enable the full oxygenation of the blood, arrest the progress of disease, and heal the inflamed tissues. Lung diseases have been and are being cured by "Golden Medical Discovery," in cases where deep-seated cough, frequent hemorrhage, emaciation, weakness, and night-sweats have all pointed to a fatal termination by consumption.

"Some years ago I was almost a helpless victim of that dread disease—consumption," writes Mr. Chas. Fross, P. M., of Sitka, White Co., Ind. "I was confined to my room for several months; my friends and neighbors had given up all hope of my recovery, until one day a friend advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and after I had taken the contents of the second bottle I began to improve. After taking six bottles I was, I honestly believe, delivered from the grave and entirely cured. I am now a strong and hearty man."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from accumulated impurities.

RICE WATER NUTRITIOUS.

Curious Way Some British Officers Discovered This Fact.

It is probable that few occidental cooks who prepare rice in various forms for diet are aware that in discarding the water in which it is boiled they are wasting what is regarded by the oriental as the most nutritious part of the food. This fact was curiously proved some years since when a detachment of Europeans and native troops in India found themselves beleaguered in a fort with insufficient rations, even of rice, to enable them to hold out until a force could march to their relief.

It was when the officers were seriously debating this problem that the natives approached them with what was regarded as a curious solution of the difficulty. If, proposed the latter, the Europeans took all the rice, they, the natives, would be quite content with the water in which it was boiled. The suggestion, in place of any better, was adopted, when it was remarked that while the Europeans found it difficult to maintain their strength on full rations of rice the natives lost none of their stamina by several weeks' diet on the water. When the proposal was made, the action of the natives was praised as one of great devotion to their superiors, but the sentiment was somewhat mollified when the discovery was made that the natives were quite aware that the principal nourishment lay in the water.

Since that time Europeans in the orient, following the custom of the natives, have given rice water to patients, particularly in cases of cholera, as a last resort when no other food can be retained in the stomach and usually with good results. But the natives always value this water so highly that it is never thrown away.

In fact, it would surprise many cooks to discover how much may be done with this apparently worthless stock. If the rice is cooked in the oriental fashion—that is, boiled only so long that each grain comes out of the pan separate and not as a sodden mass—the water when strained off and permitted to cool will become a jelly approaching the consistency of blancmange. To suit the occidental palate the water should be flavored with an extract or otherwise the jelly may have rather an insipid taste.

Sheep In Varied Clothing.

One of the results of the investigation of a special committee of the Society of Arts into the question of bookbinding goes to show that sheepskin is often used by bookbinders under very different names. They found books bound nominally in Levant morocco, hard grain morocco, straight grain morocco, pigskin, calfskin, crocodile and alligator leathers, all of which on close microscopic examination were found to be the ordinary common sheepskin on which had been stamped the special grains and markings of the skins they were got up to imitate. The committee, however, were satisfied that in many cases both the bookbinders and the librarians had bought these leathers under the impression that they were buying the genuine article.—London Globe.

How Russian Peasants Live.

Most of the Russian peasants pass a great deal of their lives in workshops, where they work, eat and sleep, the same room sheltering a number and probably a pig in the bargain. There are few beds. Instead, all around the four walls of the room is fixed what may be literally described as a bench. It is made of wood, and at this works the peasant by day, and on it he sleeps by night, each man at his own spot. The conditions of the Russian workshop or factory and the Russian prison and military barracks, so far as interior arrangements are concerned, are akin. Chairs there will also be and a table, rudely fashioned, as a rule, by the men themselves.—Saturday Review.

Twentieth Century Medicine.

The twentieth century has almost a free field in medicine. Although much has been accomplished in the treatment of diseases, the science is still largely experimental, and there is room for a host of discoveries. Perhaps by the time this century is ended there will be a lymph or an antitoxin or some sort of treatment for every ill the flesh is heir to, so that a few vaccinations and other treatments will guarantee immunity for a long period. Then centenarians will be as common as blackberries and a man will be young at eighty.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Hoped to Strike the Right One.

"Here are half a dozen prescriptions I would like to have you fill as soon as you can," wheezed Rivers.

"I can see they are all for the cure of a cold," remarked the druggist, looking them over.

"It's this way," explained Rivers. "When I had the other cold, I tried all these. One of 'em cured me, but I can't remember now which one it was."—Chicago Tribune.

To Be Considered.

"I see that your town has been considering the idea of imposing a tax on bachelors."

"Yes," answered the young woman, "but we thought it over, and we concluded that the men might be mean enough to take the money to pay it out for what they spend for caramels and theater tickets."—Washington Star.

Lake Baikal's greatest distinction is its size. It is the largest fresh water lake on the Asiatic or the European continent, being 400 miles long and from 16 to 65 miles in width.

JUST ONE BOY'S WAY

THE DRAMA THAT WAS ENACTED ON A STREET CAR.

A Pocket Exploration That Held the Passengers Breathless and Proved Eminently Satisfactory to the Persistent Youngster.

When this small boy on the Ninth street car went into his clothing after his car fare, the other passengers betrayed little or no interest in him. He was an ordinary, snub nosed, freckle faced boy of nine or ten, and it seemed pretty safe to assume that he had the nickel necessary for a ride or he would not have swung aboard, and so the passengers paid little or no attention to him. The men, as usual, occupied themselves in pretending that they weren't looking at all at the good looking women in the opposite seats, and the women, also as usual, endeavored to convey the impression that they didn't know there was such a creature as a man within a hundred miles of them.

But when this small boy began to have his troubles all hands got to looking him over. Everybody, it would appear, likes to see a small boy in trouble anyhow.

The boy plowed around in the lining of the right hand pocket of his shabby little overcoat, screwing himself into many possible attitudes as he stood and wriggled in the aisle, and finally, after terrific exertion, he brought forth a penny, half buried in a lot of woolly stuff from the coat. Then he turned his attention to the lining of the left hand pocket of his overcoat. After almost superhuman difficulties, in the process of which it looked as if the boy might get himself wrapped around an invisible axis several times in such a manner that he could never get right again, he produced another penny, also plentifully wadded in woolen lint belonging to the overcoat.

A couple of elderly men who were reading papers side by side at the end of the car began to get nervous. They pushed back their spectacles and studied the boy's movements anxiously.

"Fare, there, son!" said the conductor.

The boy gazed reproachfully at the conductor, stuck the two found pennies in his mouth and continued his weird exertions to assemble his fare.

He unbuttoned his overcoat by the simple process of giving it a yank from bottom to top, and then he dug into the right hand pocket of his jacket. That pocket, too, seemed to be lining-less, and the boy had to grope through it like a cat clawing for the exit of a bag. At length he got to the end of it, and an expression of acute relief crossed his freckled features. The hand was wedged in so tightly that he had about as much trouble in getting it out as he had had in getting it in, but it clutched another cent when it finally made its appearance. This went into his mouth to join the other two. At this point the two elderly men coughed violently and scowled at the boy as if to say that they wished the infernal business were done with, but the others who were watching the boy's moves looked sympathetic.

The boy next began a laborious exploration of his right hand knickerbocker pocket, from which he produced and bestowed in his overcoat pocket many articles peculiar to boys—marbles, a piece of wax, a rusty looking knife, two or three printed celluloid buttons, and so on—and at the very bottom of this salvage was yet another penny. All the other passengers except the two elderly men breathed sighs of relief, but they wanted to read their papers, and yet they couldn't while this boy was engaged in his eventful search, with the chances about even whether he'd win out or not.

"Fare now there, kid!" said the conductor, once more tackling the boy. The boy handed him the four pennies from his mouth after very politely rubbing them off on his overcoat sleeve, and he said, with a very boyish grin:

"I got the other one somewheres. Wait a minute, mister."

Then the boy gazed up at the ceiling of the car and studied for a moment, while the other passengers except the two elderly men, who looked ferocious, rooted for him with all their might.

The boy felt tentatively at his left hand knickerbockers pocket, but it was plain to see that he knew that was no go. For about half a minute he looked worried, and the sympathetic passengers worried along with him, as could be seen by the tense expression on their faces as they regarded every movement of the boy with strained, almost feverish attention. Then the boy reached into a back pocket of his knickerbockers, brought forth one of those celluloid traveling soap boxes, somewhat battered, took off the lid, and there, buried in a lot of junk, was the other cent.

The sigh of relief that ran around that car was distinctly audible. The sympathetic passengers, men and women, settled themselves back in their seats and smiled at the boy, and two or three of them looked as if they wanted to jump up and suggest cheers. The two elderly men coughed violently again, readjusted their spectacles and began again on their newspapers.

Then the small boy sat down, took a neat looking change purse from the inside pocket of his overcoat, dumped the contents—about $2 in quarters, nickels and dimes—into his hands and began counting it, whereupon the passengers who had been rooting for him but a moment before instantly froze and looked at him as if they considered him a bad lot and a boy bound straight for state's prison or worse.—Washington Star.

NECESSITY OF SLUMBER.

Death by Sleeplessness a Chinese Punishment.

"A person absolutely without sleep for nine days will die," says a writer in Ainslee's. "Sufferers from insomnia sometimes maintain that they have gone for weeks without sleeping, but it has been proved that they do sleep without being aware of it. At a certain point sleep is inevitable, no matter what the bodily condition, the alternative being death. Prisoners have slept on the rack of the inquisition. And the Chinese found that only the greatest ingenuity and vigilance could carry out a sentence of death by sleeplessness. This mode of capital punishment was long in favor in China and is said to be so today, while as a form of torture deprivation of sleep is considered one of the most efficacious weapons in the Chinese judicial arsenal. In some such cases the prisoner is kept in a cage too small to stand up or lie down in and constantly prodded with a sharp rod. Death by starvation, also a Chinese punitive method, is a slower process and therefore, one would think, more calculated to appeal to the oriental mind if it were not that death by sleeplessness is thought so much more painful. In the latter case the brain is the first affected of all the organs of the body, while in case of starvation the brain longest retains its normal weight and character.

"A corresponding mode of taming wild elephants is said to be depriving the animals of sleep when first caught. In a few days they become comparatively spiritless and harmless. The brain of the elephant is held to be more highly developed than that of any other wild animal, but of course as compared with a human brain can be easily fatigued by new impressions and so made very dependent on sleep. The wild elephant in his native jungle, however, is said to sleep very little—a further point for the theory of the universal ratio of sleep to intelligence. A man taken out of his habitat and placed in conditions which he never could have imagined—if transported to Mars, say—would doubtless need an extraordinary amount of sleep at first. There is the almost parallel case of a German boy, Casper Hauser, who up to the age of eighteen was kept in one room where he had no intercourse with human beings or sight of any natural object, not even the sky. At eighteen he was brought to Nuremberg and abandoned in the street. For the first few months of his life among men he slept almost constantly and so soundly that it was very hard to wake him."

The Sense of Feeling.

Some of our most important organs—for instance, the heart, the brain and the lungs—are, strange to say, quite insensible to touch, thus showir ; that not only are nerves necessary for the sensation, but also the special end organs. The curious fact was noticed with the greatest astonishment by Harvey, who, while treating a patient for an abscess that caused a large cavity in his side, found that when he put his fingers into the cavity he could actually take hold of the heart without the patient being in the least aware of what he was doing. This so interested Harvey that he brought King Charles I. to the man's bedside that "he might himself behold and touch so extraordinary a thing."

In certain operations a piece of skin is removed from the forehead to the nose, and it is stated that the patient, oddly enough, feels as if the new nasal part were still in his forehead and may have a headache in his nose. —Chambers' Journal.

In the Same Situation.

A funny story is told about a physician at Monroe City. A resident of the town set out shade trees for the doctor. A short time later the physician was called to attend the mother-in-law of the man who had set out the trees. The old lady died, and the physician presented his bill. After paying it, the citizen thought of the trees and made out and presented a bill for them. "But the trees died," protested the doctor. "So did my mother-in-law," retorted the other man. The doctor paid the bill.—Kansas City Journal.

Settling the "Tip" Question.

The awkward question of the tip was solved by a big New Englander from the state of Maine who was dining in a London restaurant the other evening. Having paid his bill, he was informed by the waiter that what he had paid did "not include the waiter."

"Waal," said the stranger, "I ate no waiter, did I?"

And as he looked quite ready to do so on any further provocation the subject was dropped.—London Chronicle.

The Dog That Sings and His Master.

"Billingsley has taught his dog to sing."

"Does he sing well?"

"He sings as well as Billingsley could teach him."

"I never heard Billingsley. Is he a good singer?"

"Well, the dog has been shot at seven times."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

STAMPING OUT DISEASE.

Pennsylvania Farmers Endeavoring to Eradicate Contagion From Cattle.

"The need of eradicating contagious diseases among cattle is so evident, and is so well understood among the cattle owners and farmers of Pennsylvania, that there are very few attempts to conceal them," said Dr. Leonard Pearson, state veterinarian and secretary of the state live stock sanitary board, on his return from a tour of inspection of the larger dairy herds in western Pennsylvania.

"Since there is no provision of law," added Dr. Pearson, "for the establishment and maintainance of a large force of inspectors of herds, and since herds are so numerous and scattered that it is quite out of reason to expect the state veterinarian to see all of them, it is necessary to depend largely for reports of outbreaks of contagious diseases upon cattle owners themselves.

Such reports are coming in every day; some days as many as ten or twelve requests for help and inspection are received. When these cannot be attended to personally a competent local veterinarian is employed to attend to the matter and report upon it. As a result of this work the prevalence of tuberculosis has been much reduced, glanders has been eradicated, anterax has been kept in check, and such diseases as rabies, hog cholera, black quarter and numerous parasitic diseases have been greatly restricted.

All of this work has been greatly facilitated and made more accurate by the aid of the bacteriologist of the board, Dr. M. P. Ravenel. Some diseases cannot be safely diagnosed without aid of such methods as can only be applied in the laboratory. The use of such accurate methods is a great advantage over former usage, and is a point wherein Pennsylvania is considerably in advance of most other states."

Very Expensive Fishing.

Constable A. A. Baker, ex-officio game warden of Sullivan county, the other day captured two men who had fifty trout under six inches in length in their baskets and promptly took them before 'Squire Buschhausen at Laporte. The men pleaded guilty and were fined $500 and costs. One man had twenty-four trout and the other twenty-six, but they concluded to divide the amount equally between them.

Health in Camp Life.

"At this season," said Murray Garde, the veteran camper of the Wissahockon, in the Philadelphia Record, "the minds of many persons turn to wild life in a tent, and they decide to go camping. Often, though, they make mistakes in the things they take with them for food and comfort. The foods they should take are coffee, bacon, dried peas, dried beans, hominy, cornmeal and tobacco. They might also take canned goods for wet weather—tomato soup, deviled chicken, potted ham and the like. For bed coverings they need a rubber blanket apiece, two woolen blankets and a hard sponge pillow. Their clothes should be old and abundant. They should take with them all the aged shoes and shirts and suits they have, for a camper is constantly getting wet, constantly tearing holes in his raiment, so that he needs innumerable changes. In selecting a site for a tent it should be born in mind that a high piece of ground, or a knoll, is needed; otherwise the first rain floods the campers out. And always the camp should be within reasonable distance of a spring, so that good drinking water may be gotten without trouble. It is best to do your own cooking in true camp style. One man each day should be appointed cook, one dish washer, one table setter, one camp cleaner, and so on. Usually, though, after the first week or two, a camp becomes careless and untidy. Dishes are not washed until just before they are to be used again, beds are not made until bedtime, and the sward around the tent resembles, with its overcoat of newspapers, cigarette boxes, empty cans and crumbs of food, the dumps down in the Neck. It is a sign, when a camp gets like that, that it will soon break up. Yet, untidy or not, it is a healthy place always. The man who lives in a tent never gets rheumatism, or a cold, or any ailment. He eats like a horse, he sleeps 10 hours, and he gets up early in the morning, not because he is energetic, but because his hunger won't let him lie abed any longer."

The remains arrived in Bloomsburg Tuesday afternoon and were interred in Rosemont cemetery Wednesday morning.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger, one of the oldest newspapers in America was purchased on Monday by Adolph S. Ochs from G. W. Childs Drexel and the Drexel estate and posession was at once given the purchaser. The purchase includes all the Public Ledger real estate, comprising about half a block of improved property on Chestnut and Sixth streets facing Independence Hall. The price paid is not made public but from a trustworthy source it is learned that over two and one quarter million dollars are involved in the transaction.

A number of men have arrived at their homes in Centralia from the soft coal regions of western Pennsylvania, whither they had gone about a month ago in search of employment. They claim that they could make but little more than their board and concluded that it would be about as profitable to pick huckleberries at home for a living.

The dance in Irwin's Hall Catawissa Tuesday evening had an unusually large attendance. Those who attended from other towns were Miss Nellie Heck, Shamokin; Miss Goldsmith, Mt. Carmel; Miss Smidt, Philadelphia; Miss Guie, Norristown; Miss Shepherd, Wilkes-Barre, Miss Daily, South Bethlehem and Messrs Charles Bolich, J. H. Drecher and James Bergstresser, Mt. Carmel.

Electrical storms have been of almost daily occurrence for a week or more past. The most severe, however, was that of Friday afternoon, during the progress of which R. Kernson's dwelling house at Catawissa was struck. The fiery bolt descended upon the house near the chimney, tearing a large hole in the roof. The accompanying loud report struck terror to the hearts of the members of the family, while the neighbors were greatly alarmed. The Telephone Exchange at that town was also disabled by the storm, and a bolt struck a telephone pole outside the shoe factory, the light of which was of such brilliancy that the employees thought the building was on fire, and were hurriedly taking their departure.

Jerome Thompson, who has held the position of cashier of the National Bank of Middleburg, since it was established, has resigned the cashiership of that bank and has taken a similar position in a bank at Bloomsburg. Jerome, as we call him, will be missed about the county-seat where he had a host of friends who enjoyed meeting him. The Middleburg Bank, under Mr. Thompson's supervision, has grown to be one of the substantial banking houses in the central part of the state, paying 6 per cent. dividend and netting a surplus beside. While many of us regret to see Mr. Thompson leave us, yet we are glad to know that he has gone to accept a more lucrative position that he is so competent to fill in that growing city of Bloomsburg.—Selinsgrove Times.

Everybody is wondering whether the fight between Jeffries and Fitzsimmons is to be for blood or whether it is to be a money making scheme. Jeffries is not a favorite by any means. His miserable exhibitious in the past have discredited pugilism in several states and it appears to be the wish of the majority of the sporting fraternity that the general indignation may result in sending him back to the congenial climate of California where he should never have left. He is a boiler maker by trade and he should return to his trade as a boiler cannot strike back. He may be able to knock out such third-raters as Sharkey and Armstrong, but for fighters of the true championship class he is only a chopping block. The affair takes place tomorrow night and if it's on the square, Fitz will win.

Treasurer Resigned.

Consequent upon his acceptance of a position in Wilkesbarre and contemplated removal from town, Mr. A. H. Bloom has resigned the office of Treasurer of St. Paul's Parish. At a meeting of the vestry last week a resolution was adopted thanking Mr. Bloom for his very faithful and efficient services, and regretting the loss of himself and family to the parish by their removal to Wilkesbarre, and wishing them great prosperity and happiness in their new home.

Mr. A. W. Duy has been elected Treasurer of the Parish.

Church Dedication.

The repairs to the A. M. E. church are about completed, and the church will be dedicated on Sunday, August 3rd, when there will be meetings at ten in the morning and three in the afternoon. A number of preachers from out of town will be present. A general invitation to the public is extended.

Most of the work has been done by the pastor, Rev. T. J. West, and as the congregation is small they need help. The church has been kept up by a few, and it has been seldom that help has been asked. Now that they have made necessary repairs they need money, and are deserving of any assistance that the liberal cstizens of the community may tender them. Help them along.

WILLIE SKIPPED.

How he Made a Home Run With P. & R. Guns in His Clothes.

Willie Setley, who is known from the wild fastness of the Maine forests to the Gulf of Mexico, and from Coney Island to the Golden Gate as the slickest ball tosser that ever twirled or fielded the horsehide sphere made quite a hit in his greatest of all specialties — larceny — at Mahanoy City the other day.

Setley had been in the coal region for the past several weeks and one day recently boarded a freight train for Mahanoy City. There he went to one of the collieries and enlisted as a deputy. He was given two revolvers estimated to be worth $22 each. These he stuck in the hip pockets of his trousers and started in on patrol duty.

He soon tired of the work and when an opportunity presented itself Willie slid out of sight. He made, in base ball vernacular, a "home run." The base ball expert never stopped until he had disposed of the weapons, and with the money thus secured, skipped away for pastures new. The P. & R. police are looking for him. —Ashland Advocate.

Special Services.

Bishop Talbot conducted special services at Berwick Thursday evening. Through the kindness of the Lutheran congregation, their church was secured for the occasion. The pretty little edifice was well filled with members of the church in that town. St. Paul's choir of Bloomsburg furnished the music. Bishop Talbot delivered a strong, forceful sermon, and at the close of the services he met and shook hands with those present. He will visit Berwick again this fall, probably in November, and administer the rite of confirmation.

Friday evening the Bishop preached in St. John's chapel, Catawissa, and a full evening service was held. Arch Deacon Radcliff was also present and St. Paul's choir from town. The Bishop was expected at Catawissa Thursday afternoon and the members of the church had congregated to hear him, but he left home without the letter which Rev. Wilhelm had sent him, and which contained full information regarding the places and time of services, and as a result was at a loss to know, or in fact didn't know that the people were looking for him at Catawissa Thursday afternoon. He could very easily have reached that place had he known that he was expected there.

Huntington Valley Camp.

The Huntington Valley campmeeting, near Shickshinny, which opens August 19th will have attractive services this year. The singing will be in charge of Rev. Dorsey N. Miller and his talented wife. Dr. R. H. Gilbert, of Berwick, will delight the children with his pictorial sermons. Rev. Will L. Armstrong, of Town Hill, will care for the Epworth League meetings. Epworth League Day Wednesday, August 20, will be in charge of Mr. E. S. Stackhouse. The principal address will be by Fred L. Smith, the talented young Hazletonian, who is the district president. Rev. W. H. Norcross is arranging for Old Folk's Day on Monday of camp. Dr. B. B. Hamlin is to be the preacher. The new auditorium is now well under way and will be dedicated on the Sunday of camp by one of the bishops. Rooms and board or cottages may be secured by addressing the secretary, R. M. Tubbs, Shickshinny, Pa.

Sheriff Sales.

In addition to the sale advertised elsewhere in this issue Sheriff Daniel Knorr will dispose of properties as follows:

At the Court House on Saturday, August 2, at two o'clock p. m., property of W. P, Litwiler, situate in Roaringcreek township, consisting of 72 acres of land on which is erected a dwelling house, barn and outbuildings.

At the Court House on Saturday, August 9th, at two o'clock p. m., a house and lot belonging to Daniel Fisher, and situate in Catawissa township.

Biennial Meeting Knights of Pythias.

For the above occasion the Lackawanna railroad will sell round trip tickets to Los Angeles or San Francisco for $66.25. By payment of $11.00 extra tickets will be honored for the return trip via Portland, Oregon. Tickets will be sold August 1st to 9th, inclusive, and will be good for continuous passage to the first Colorado, Wyoming or Texas point reached. West of these points and east of California stopovers will be allowed at will but tickets must be used to the California state line within ten days of the date of issue. GLENN FOUND GUILTY

Sentence Sent to the President For Approval.

BRIEF SUSPENSION AND SMALL FINE.

The Major Was Court Martialed For Administering the Water Cure to Natives In the Philippine Islands.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Secretary Root has sent to the president, at Oyster Bay, the proceedings and findings in the court martial cases of Major Edwin F. Glenn, Fifth infantry; Lieutenant Julien E. Gaujot, Tenth cavalry, and Lieutenant Norman E. Cook of the Philippine scouts.

Glenn was found guilty of administering the water cure to natives or permitting it to be done and was sentenced to a month's suspension from duty and fined $50. Lieutenant Cook was acquitted on a charge of giving orders to kill three Filipino prisoners. The testimony showed that he had given orders to shoot the prisoners if they attempted to escape. The Filipino scouts to whom this order was given thought it meant to shoot the prisoners.

In forwarding the cases to the president the secretary recommends that the sentences and findings be approved, but that no other action shall be taken. It is not believed that the president, who is reviewing authority in these cases, will make any comments such as were delivered by him in the case of General Smith. It is shown in the evidence and reports that Major Glenn has performed excellent service and has done much to pacify the country where he has been in command.

A HUNDRED MISSING.

Death List of the Elbe Steamship Disaster Growing.

HAMBURG, July 23.—The steamship Primus of Hamburg, which, with 185 passengers on board, was cut in two and sunk by the tug Hansa of the Hamburg-American line on the river Elbe between Blankenese and Nienstedten, has been partially raised and brought nearer shore. The total number of missing is now placed at 104. Sixty-one bodies have been recovered.

Inquiry into the circumstances of the disaster shows that there is a great lack of life saving appliances on the Elbe excursion steamers. The Primus is known to have had on board only six life belts and a single boat. The steamer Zelphin, which came up later with 400 passengers, also had only one boat, capable of carrying seven persons.

Died With Curses on Lips.

GREENVILLE, Miss., July 23.—With curses on his lips, with eyes bloodshot and with the expressed wish that the people of Greenville perish in the fires of hell Ashley Cocke died here yesterday. With him, but silently, Tom Lauderdale also met his end. Both were convicted of the murder of Engineer G. M. Wray and were hanged from the same gallows, and the swing of a double trap sent both men to their doom. Cocke died boasting that he would be in hell in a few minutes and damning everything and everybody. He said that those who had planned his murder would meet their end and that $11,000 had been deposited in bank, $1,000 of which would be paid for the death of each of the eleven men who prosecuted him. The execution was witnessed by 6,000 people.

La Follette of Madison, renominated; lieutenant governor, James O. Davidson of Soldiers Grove; secretary of state, Walter L. Houser of Mondovi; state treasurer, John J. Kempf of Milwaukee; attorney general, L. M. Sturdevant of Neillsville; superintendent of public instruction, Charles P. Cary of Delavan; railroad commissioner, John W. Thomas of Chippewa; insurance commissioner, Zeno M. Host of Milwaukee.

Great Britain's Downfall Predicted

BERLIN, July 23.—The Kreuz Zeitung, dealing with Great Britain's position in the world, maintains that she is not economically independent of other nations. "The colonies," says the Zeitung, "are rapidly severing themselves from the mother country, which will finally be absorbed by America, inasmuch as the rise of the United States means the political and economic downfall of Great Britain."

Found $40,118 and Got 10 Cents.

CHICAGO, July 18.—A woman in this city lost a bag containing papers and currency valued at $40,118, and when they were returned to her she rewarded the finder with 10 cents. The latter was unable to learn her name or even to thank her before she hurried away. Later he recovered from the shock and placed the dime in a gilded frame.

Floods In Austria.

VIENNA, July 23.—The storms of Monday last did immense damage throughout the country. Many villages were flooded, and a large number of houses were swept away. The spire of a church at Zupine, Hungary, was struck by lightning and fell, demolishing the church. A total of fourteen deaths from lightning is reported.

Potatoes and Cabbage Plentiful.

Potato digging is now in progress on the farm, the early crop having fully matured. The yield is fully up to expectations, and potatoes are bound to be cheaper than at any time in several years. The outlook for sauer krout is also very good. Fine solid heads of the early varieties of cabbage are now brought to market and the late crop is heading in quite a promising way. Beans were never more plentiful and vegetables of all kinds that are due at this time of the year are abundant. Corn and tomatoes from the country are lower in price.
